Comments

“ Please accept our heartfelt sympathies on the loss of Husband, father and friend. Paul and I grew up together and went our own way to pursue different interests after high school. I was Paul's wingman for many years and we survived many shenanigans we were involved in. We were obsessed with cars and Paul was always thinking on how he could make them faster. He once had wrapped a can around his fuel line and filled it with ice in a 65 Baracuda thinking the cold gas would give him more HP but did not realize the engine heat melted the ice. Another time Paul had just got his Mustang 428 Cobra Jet when his Dad got mad because we were under the hood and Paul was looking to tweak it a little. Paul had great parents who treated me like family. I will forever be grateful to Carly and Mabel. Paul's passing surely has made me realize that we will follow. I hope that some day we can reunite and have a good laugh or two.
