“ Mom,
I miss you unbelievably. I miss your smile, I miss your hugs sooo much, I miss your laugh, I miss your reassuring words, I miss your phone calls every morning asking me to come home with a coffee. I miss hearing your phone hit the floor at night when you'd fall asleep on facebook :) I just miss you! You were the best mother in the world, always making sure Matt and I were happy even if you weren't. I want to say thank you for everything you did for me. From the smallest things like offering to shave my legs for me cause my 8 months pregnant belly is now in the way, to letting me move back in with you almost 2 years ago now with my own family. Mike and the kids and I appreciate it so much. You know that cause I would tell you all the time.

Being at home has been weird. I keep waiting for you to come through the door. I check my phone all the time. I had a baby appointment last Monday at 35 weeks and picked up my phone on the way back like I always would to call and tell you how big he is now. He was measuring 42 weeks by the way. As you would probably say "damn I told you he was gonna be big, you probably won't make it to your C-section date" I have another appointment today at 36 weeks. I can just imagine how big he is now. My belly has dropped over the last week too. Wish you were here so I could tell you everything. I wish you would have been home more over the last month or so. You spent a lot of time in Turner and it's time I lost with you. Last Friday you were OK and Saturday morning you left me. I still can't believe it. Even though I sit here in the living room and instead of you here I have picture boards from your service and never ending flowers. I did get your desk cleaned for you and have been cleaning everyday, one cause you hated a mess but mainly because if I sit down for any amount of time I lose it. My kids are amazing. The amount of love they have been giving me is unbelievable. I'd like to think it's because Mike and I have raised them well and I learned from you! You were such a loving, beautiful, selfless soul. I wish I would have told you that more. But I still talk to you everyday. Say good morning and goodnight everyday. I tell you I love you and I tell you what's on my mind just as if you were here. I just hope you are listening. Keep an eye on me and the kids and Mike and Matt and Di and Grammy.. On everyone. You got a lot of looking out to do from up there :) tell everyone I miss them as well. I just wish you were still here. I have so much more to say but I'll stop for now. I love you Mum. Rest in paradise angel!
