“ Dear Vicky & Robbie and family, Please accept my condolences. I remember your mother, mother-in-law and grandmother as always a "gentle lady" who loved her family. I remember her as a dedicated dutiful wife and as mother of Vicky before moving to California. Robbie, I'm sorry but I do not remember you as a child growing up but suddenly one day meeting you as a grown man with a wife and a beautiful family. Vicky, you were the first baby born into our family and my mother just loved to hold and cuddle you. You were the center of her attention and I know she missed you terribly when you and your parents moved to California. Vicky & Robbie, your parents made me feel very special when I was going into my teen years. I've never forgotten the congratulatory message they sent to me from California when I graduated grammar school. God gives us seasons in our lives of very special relationships and may we all retain and cherish these heartfelt warm memories.
