“ I was so sorry to read of Mrs. Caron's passing. I had just seen Mrs. Caron and her sister Mary, shopping at Hannaford a short time ago. It brought back memories from the past. Unwinding spools of yarn, learning to knit, dodge ball in the yard, trips to pick blueberries and raspberries up on Bartlett Hill. Remembering the lunches that Aunt Mary made us; mini steaks and fries, corned beef hash. Boy that stuff was so good. Remember when staying out till 10 or 11 PM wasn't a problem and going all over town didn't illicit a response from the police. We really had some great times. I'll remember them fondly and wish you my sincerest condolences.Lucille
